I, Me, My

We are the me generation. No better phrase describes the shameful disinterest and flagrant selfishness of the students at ETHS during the late 1970's. Hopefully, in the new decade we can shed this pathetic but accurate label.

The annals of time will scold us. We—the egotistical, self-centered, self-motivated, and self-loving generation—are the lost generation; we have been playing hide-and-seek with humanity. In the late 1970's we've been hiding—hibernating—and the contrast with the 1960's is striking.

In those days ETHS students engaged in quite a few universal crusades. Many students protested the draft, Vietnam, and racial injustices. There was a massive uproar against the school dress code in 1968. There were noble efforts to raise money for starving children in Biafra. ETHS housed a political caucus union, an international round table, and several issue-oriented discussion groups.

The roster of student activities in the PILOT was once chock full of opportunities for students to learn about and take action on the pertinent issues. Now that roster is barren.

What have we become? Television zombies? Pop culture addicts? Our task in the 1980's should be to wrest ourselves from TV serfdom, lower our beer mugs long enough to take notice what events are stirring the world, and then express how we feel about what's going on.

No doubt, our generation will face the greatest challenges of all; we will be left with the environmental problems our forefathers chose to ignore; we will be hard-pressed to feed all the starving children in the world; we will be fortunate if we even have time to address these issues, for a nuclear war may put an end to everything.

Here at ETHS, we can continue the revitalization of student involvement in school activities, such as student council. We can invite speakers to talk to the student body about what's going on beyond typical scope of teen interests. We can protest the draft with vigor. We can raise money for the famine-ridden nations. We have the capacity to raise hell and affect change.

The youth of any society has the most time and energy. It is up to us to funnel that time and energy into constructive, worthwhile pursuits. There is a great deal of satisfaction in standing up for a principle you believe in. There are many opportunities to show that you are dissatisfied with the way the world works—If you wish.

What is important is that students do stand up. We still have time to lose our image of selfishness and apathy. Otherwise our epitaph will most likely read "The Me Generation." It doesn't matter what you believe in or how you express yourself, just so long as you do believe and, above all, express yourself.

—Norm Atkins

Me?

Two questions which seem to have been on many people's minds this year have been: is there really a "me" generation, and, if there is, is ETHS part of it? The answer to both of these, it seems to me, is alarmingly clear: Yes. And this is an unfortunate thing.

Probably, before any accusing takes place, the "me" generation, a term coined by social critic Tom Wofe, ought to be defined. "Me" means just that; it is meant to indicate a kind of societal narcissism, in which the individual, or more accurately, the outward individual, is supreme. The "me" generation, our present one, holds identification with a group or groups above all things, and believes subconsciously that any deviation from established standards is bad. Its hallmark, though, is for the individual to declare himself . . . and therein, to join the club! It's a sad fact that ETHS is what might be called a bastion and a training camp for the present and future members of this sorry society.

It isn't too difficult to find evidence, and plenty of it, of the "me" generation at ETHS. Adolescence is a time when all sorts of passions aren't stifled or denied as they tend to be in later life. Adolescence and the "me" generation go hand in hand. But adolescence is not foisted upon us by anyone, not even ourselves, as is the "me" generation. The "me" generation goes beyond normal juvenility. It doesn't suggest, it commands. You must buy this album, take this drug, do this and this and this. And you must simultaneously declare your individuality, your right to make your own decisions free of influence, and your right to immediate gratification of everything. You have no choice.

Does this sound contradictory? You're right; it does. But this is what the "me" generation is all about. Do your own thing (forgetting that it's also everybody else's thing) against all reason and decency if need be, because you deserve whatever you want, no matter how unreasonable and selfish your desire may be. You're not only right, you're always right.

In the future, one of two things will happen. The first, which is by far the most likely, is that things will continue pretty much the same as before, with the inherent and unmitigated decadence of the "me" generation becoming all the more entrenched. This won't last forever, though, because it can't. Sooner or later the world economic state will be such that the affluence upon which the "me" generation is built up will be hard-pressed for existence. People will find out that mores never stay that way, and when they do, that will be the end of the "me" generation. Its members, though, will probably always feel sorry for themselves.

The other future alternative to the "me" generation is the growth of a new counter-culture. Some people I've talked to say they can already see the seeds of it: I say that flower power has never been deader. Perhaps, though, the hippie image is inaccurate in this case. The fact is that the school looks very much like it did ten years ago—just check the yearbook—but the people are about as different from us as you can imagine. What's happened in the interim is that we've retained only the meaningless elements of hippiedom— some of the fashions, the drugs, the phrases,—and let the real ideas behind the movement die. People, for example, wore army combat pants back then as a sign of protest; today, people wear them because they are fashionable, and what is worse, they buy them from French designers—a real hippie would wretch at the thought.

The coming counter-culture, if indeed it is to come, won't worry itself with superfluous things like what kind of clothing it will wear though. It will exist in reaction to the mindlessness of the "me" generation. Ideally, its members will be people who are simply tired of deceit, both of themselves and of others, and who'll work to eradicate it. Their lives will be no beds of roses, but if they know what's good for them, they'll welcome that.

I know for sure that my generation has neither the guts nor the inclination to become that generation, and I'm sorry.

Sight unseen

by Wendy Sherwin

"A lot of people want to know what it's like to be blind. When I think of ETHS, as a blind student I don't think of a physical structure. A building with four towers, four different schools connected by H-Hall doesn't come to my mind. Instead, school is all of my classes, my teachers and the program. I can never perceive the size of ETHS, because it's always endless to me."

Jean Tisdahl is a junior at ETHS, who is permanently blind. His life from a blind student's perspective is unique and pays much more attention to details than an average pupil.

"I don't see myself in the middle of a hall, but I distinguish the school by various sounds and the feelings they contain," Jean explained. "I listen for the echoes of the various halls, and I can decide where I am. For example, when I walk down a corridor and I don't know exactly where I am, I keep on moving in the direction where I hear people. Eventually I hear the echoes of the stairwalls and I listen for a big doorway and familiar shapes I can identify. H-Hall has its own distinct echo, which is unique to each floor."

Jean has been attending ETHS for three years although he is blind. Participating seriously in the music department has "become part of my life," Jean said.

"When thinking of ETHS, I think of all of my music classes like Materials of Music. I don't recall images in terms of sight; it's feeling and smelling. I feel this presence in my music classes."

Walking to school is daily experience for a blind student. "When I'm walking to ETHS, and in front of the building, I just follow the swarm of people. The different entrances which I can enter into run through my head. I know where I am because I smell the cigarette smoke and feel the tension and movement of students hurrying into the building. Although I may not know where I am, I just keep on walking forward. I know each entrance by its sound and echoes. Each different doorway and section of the building has its own noise and distinction."

"It's hard to explain what it's like being blind, because most people can never perceive of not possessing their sight," John revealed. "For example, I don't know what an apple looks like. I just know what it is supposed to look like by people's description. To me, an apple has a shape, and all I know is that it tastes good. I really never have seen the color red, and do not know what it is. I have heard a lot about red though."

Jean admits that he doesn't enjoy being blind because "I feel more inept to people who can see the real world; I never can. I never will be able to see the world outside or see what the ETHS building looks like."

"It's kind of strange, but for most people ETHS is a place that gets smaller and smaller each year, and they grow accustomed to it," Jean said. "Yet, for me, ETHS is always strange and especially big because I am always getting lost. I can only recognize ETHS by its echoes and the way each wall feels to my hands. The school is always large and it never gets smaller as each day passes on. One place is the same to me as another one."

Reality for Jean is only sound, echoes and smells, and his perceptions of them. According to Jean: "I can never distinguish one building or one person from another one, only by my sense. Luckily I can appreciate the gift of sound with my music and appreciate life's details to their fullest. ETHS has provided me with many experiences and chances to grow."

ETHS is different from the rest of the schools around here because of all the different kinds of people in it; different incomes, races, general backgrounds. When you talk to people from other schools, they don't know what a black person is like. We know everyone as people, not as the stereotype black, or any stereotype. ETHS is more like the real world.

Many times the students at ETHS tend to be more cruel and selfish toward their peers, more than I've seen in other schools. Probably because of the tense surroundings — ETHS seems tense to me. You kind of feel held down, just by the atmosphere, the school in general.

THE GOOD, THE BAD, AND THE INBETWEEN

The last ten years have been a period of great change at ETHS and the time has come to refect upon this memorable era. As a number of significant and important events have taken place in this period, to list them all would be impossible. But citing the most important events and facts is no problem. The following is a run-down of the best, worst, and inbetweenest at ETHS 1970-79:

* Best YAMO title:
  " Quocumque Nomine," 1974.
* Organization that doesn't officially exist with the most name changes:
The Christie-Wedelin-Nordic Ski Club.
* Best 1-8 football team: 1979.
* The only day we were snowed out:
  Tuesday, January 16, 1979.
* Administrators who have survived the countless reorganizations and retained the same title for 10 years:
  Mr. Richard Goggins, head of security; and Mr. Lenard Meyer, coordinator of scheduling.
* You can't take these classes anymore:
  Rhetoric of our Times, Interpersonal Communications, Three-Dimensional Design, Commercial English, Greek, Japanese, Italian, Russian, Glee Club, Homeplanning and Finishing, Creative Thought, Human Geography, Current Problems, Ideas of Western Man, History of Art, Service Station Management, Probability, Pop Music, Astronomy, Macrame and Handweaving, Boutique, Conducting, Man and His Music, and Community Service Seminar.
* Pro football players who graduated from ETHS in the 70's:
  Mike Kenn (Atlanta Falcons), Emory Moorhead (New York Giants), and Joe Stewart (Oakland Raiders).
* Best way to get out of class:
  959 students who did not have their measles vaccinations were excused from school so they could be immunized, May 21-25, 1979.
* Biggest budget for one school year:
  $19,039,629 (1979-80)
* Biggest budget cut from one year to the next:
  Approximately $1,000,000 between 1974-75 and 1975-76.
* Best name for a student organization that no longer exists:
  1st Place: Wan-tu Wazuree
  2nd Place: Students for Violent Non-Action
  3rd Place: Evanston Students for a better Environment.
  4th Place: Future Physicians of America, and Future Teachers of America.
  Honorable Mention: (in no particular order) White Sox Fan Club, Coin Club, Recorder Ensemble, Russian Club, Domino Club, Riflery Club, Organization Black, International Round Table, Strategic Games Club, Folk Club, Lacrosse Team, It's Academic, Pep Club, and Aviation Club.
* Shortest reign as permanent superintendent:
  Tie. Dr. David Moberly, 1974-76, and Dr. Margaret Labat, 1977-79.
* Who says ETHS students are apathetic?
  On May 7, 1970, 800 students "participated in a walkout to protest the killing of four Kent State students and the decision of President

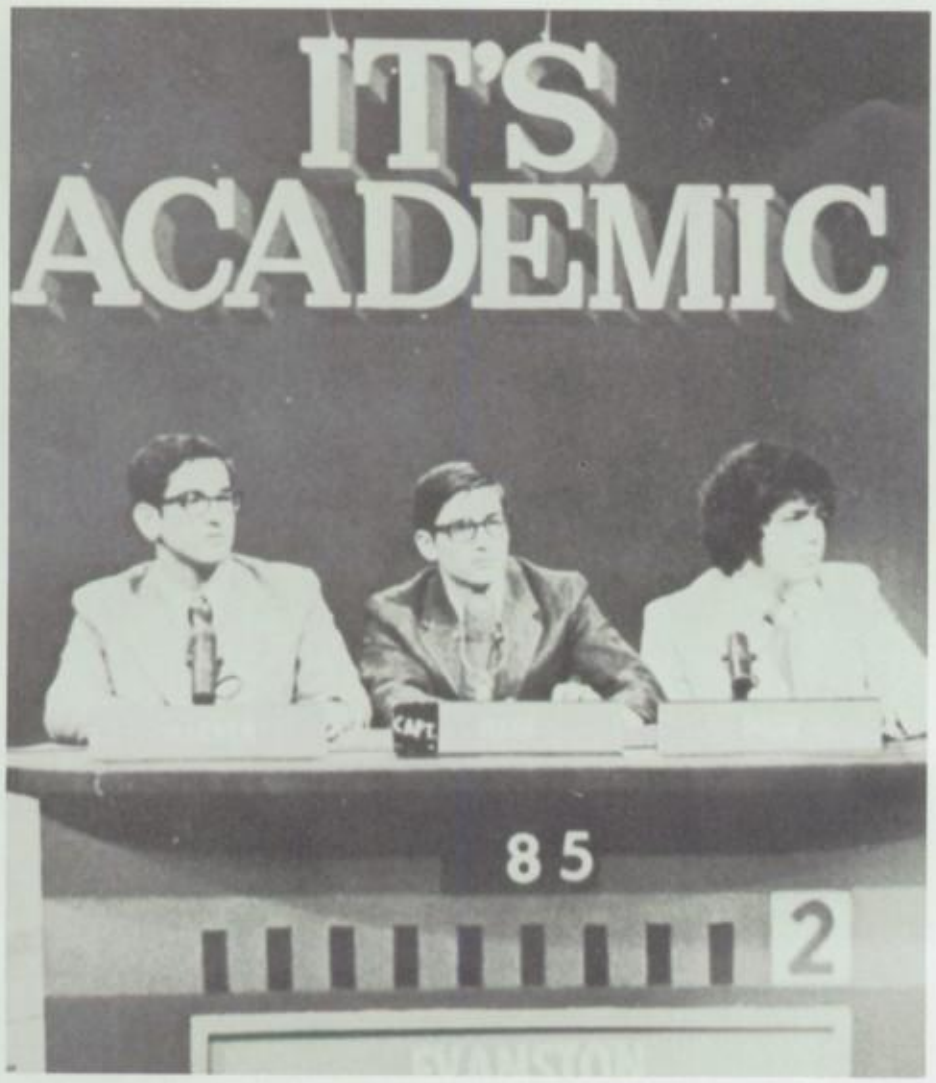
"Quocumque Nomine," 1974.



The 1971 "It's Academic" team.

Nixon to extend U.S. forces into Cambodia."KEY, 1970.

* Honor among thieves award:
  The March 23, 1978 EVANSTONIAN reported that 99% of those polled do not report cheating that goes on in class.
* Best off-campus place to have lunch in two mods:
  Herm's Palace, 3406 Dempster.
* Three safe senior pranks that gave Mr. Richard Goggins a "spontaneous chuckle.":
  1. Turning around every book in Central Resource Center.
  2. Sending memoes to all faculty members informing them that a computer malfunction would delay their paychecks a month.
  3. Sneaking a trunk full of spaghetti and meat sauce into the elevator and distributing free samples on the third floor of H-hall. When approached by security the students took off their shoes and climbed in and stomped around in the spaghetti.
* ETHS's most loyal fan:
  Mr. Mike Reisman
* Most esoteric early-bird gym class:
  Fencing.
* Best attendance policy:
  13 unexcused absences before being dropped from a class (last seen 1st semester, 1976-77).
* Best study aid:
  Cliff's Notes.
* ETHS' contributions to the world of pop music:
  Singer-songwriter Bill Quateman, and punk rocker Wazmo Nariz.
* Most likely to be found playing in Wrigley Field in the not too distant future:
  Brian Rosinski, Class of '75.
* Best school fight song that nobody has ever heard:

Our col-ors are the orange and blue,
and long may they stand.
Play the game is our mot-to true.
It's the best one in the land.
Cheer! Cheer! Cheer the team is fight-ing,
Fighting hard and grim.
Give them cheers that will renew their strength
and they will surely win.
Rah! Rah! The team is loyal to its followers.
So always treat them just the same;
Fight team, fight, we'll stand be-hind you
while you win this game.

* Kudos:
  Chess team wins national championship, 1972-74, 1979.
  Boys Track wins state, 1970, 1979.
  Soccer wins state, 1970.
  Debate wins state, 1979.
  Hockey wins state, 1974.
  Boys' tennis wins state, 1970.
  Wrestling wins state, 1970.
  Rugby wins state, 1979-80.

This is the legacy the Class of '80 leaves behind; it's up to the rest of you to carry on the spirit of ETHS in the '80's.

English Dept. adds Track 2 to current curriculum

by Ruth Lillian

This year, more than one-third of ETHS's students enrolled in a brand new course: English 2. When the North Central Assn, evaluated the school last year, it noted that "sharp differences in ability exist within the regular and honors class groupings in English." Dr. Malcolm Stern and Mr. Curt Crotty, West and East English Dept. chairpersons, designed a middle level of English because of the concerns that the needs of middle achieving students were not being adequately met by two levels of English. Following months of heated debate among school board members, and an almost unanimous approval of the proposal by English teachers, the Board of Education voted to accept the third English track.

Placement in the course has been based on individual student achievement, recommendations by the English teachers, and student choice, said Dr. Stern. The curriculum for English 2 classes is flexible; teachers have the opportunity to re-organize it. Some of the curriculum has come from the honors level, some from the regular, some is unique to the middle level, according to Mr. Crotty.

Social Studies coming on strong

by Emily Rosenberg

The Social Studies Dept. continues to stand out as one of the strongest in the school. Because its courses have been so effective, the program has remained basically the same this year. Two of the most interesting classes are Humanities and U.S. History team teaching, according to Ms. Schurfranz, East dept. chairperson.

Humanities is a freshman course in which the social studies and English teachers work together. Students learn about the art, music, and literature of the period they're studying. Many English projects are based on the material of the social studies course.

U.S. History team teaching involves three teachers and each one teaches a different aspect of American history. Students are able to choose whom they want each quarter. If they want, they can have the same teacher for the whole year. "Each teacher has his own style and it takes a while to get used to it," said Stella Dunkas, East junior. "But by the middle of the year you know what you want and which teacher to choose." Students learn all of the major facts about U.S. history, but they can also focus in on the specific areas they're interested in.

CS: A group experience

by Tony Fenner

Combined Studies, according to one junior, "is a course for motivated students who enjoy a positive class atmosphere."

Student committees decide what the class will learn during the school year, and this encourages increased student participation. Department chairperson Norman Carlson described Combined Studies, "based on the principle that people learn more by doing things than being told what to do."

The program combines English and history into a four mod course taught by the same teacher. "A lot of people thing CS isn't as hard as separate English and History, but that's simply false," noted CS student David Lloyd.

One sophomore enrolled in CS as a freshman spoke a little more critically: "you learn and work as much as you want to - so some people goof off."

However, according to Dave, "you have to be a special kind of person for CS; the program just isn't for everybody."

ETHS lands space program

by Julie Pantoga

The Evanston Science Department offers extensive resources for the study of outer space. Unlike most other high schools, Evanston houses its own planetarium, which most math and science students have the opportunity to use.

Courses using this facility are taught to all levels. Earth-Space Science classes offered to freshmen and upper classmen utilize the planetarium. Other courses that have an astronomy unit are Freshmen Physical Earth Science, Chemistry and Physics. "The space program in the planetarium was the best part of the class," remarked one junior.

The Evanston space program was enlightened by a visit from NASA astronaut Jack Lousma in October. Outstanding math and science students from selective schools in the 10th district were invited to attend this presentation in the auditorium. Mr. Lousma spoke about his experience in space and a 10 minute film from his trip was shown.

Computers invade ETHS

by Tony Fenner

Computers will be used in math classes to help teachers carry out their jobs more effectively, Mr. Venn, Math Department chairman explained. Mr. Venn foresees both staff and students becoming trained in computer usage, and eventually applications being explored in the classroom.

ETHS is currently leasing a WANG computer, mainly to aid in teaching the computer literacy unit to a large number of students. The WANG is being used by the Computer Club, and staff members involved with the Math Department. "I think putting computers in the math classes is valuable for the future," commented West junior Mimi Mueller.

A committee has also been established by the school board to find out what our computer need will be in the future and how the department could expand the present system. According to Mr. Venn, "Computers should become a valuable aid to teachers and students in the future."

Foreign Language students double up

by Wendy Sherwin

Although the graduation requirement maintains that only two years of one language are necessary for a diploma, many ETHS students are currently enrolled in two or more languages.

"I see a rise in students who are taking more than one language today," explained East Foreign Language Department Chairman, Mrs. E. Jokay. "These students are usually successful in one language and decide to take another one. I even have a girl enrolled in three language courses, and doing well in each."

It may seem like taking two or more languages would mix up students and create confusion in the classes. Yet, most double language students to find two classes fairly easy. Sue Jones, East school junior, is currently enrolled in Latin and French. According to Sue: "It would seem that I would have difficulty going from one class to another each day. On the contrary, the two courses makes each language easier. Grammar, subjunctives and other difficult things become quite commonplace."

Other students shared similar opinions to Sue's. Christine Willrich, enrolled in French and German for three years, is another doubler. "The more I take a language the easier it is. But, learning many languages is a lot of fun. In college I hope to study both Spanish and German."

Etymology, another popular course in the Foreign Language Department, is also gaining increasing enrollment. "Students who normally take a language are getting involved with etymology, because it is useful for the SAT tests and helps with English competence too," explained Mrs. Jokay.

Music Department adjusts staff

by Julie Pantoga

This year, the ETHS Music Department had to make adjustments as Dr. Donald Owens left to take on a position with the Northwestern University music staff. The ETHS music staff welcomed Mr. Earle Gregory to take the Electronic Music and Materials of Music classes. Dr. Owen's departure meant that Mr. Joseph Ferraro became the director of the Jazz Bands. "The transition was easy; I've always had a good experience with jazz bands, and that holds true here. The kids really enjoy it too." explained Mr. Ferraro.

The Band also had a new addition to the football half-time performances. The pom-pon squad is currently performing with the marching band. The girls practiced in the morning, doing routines to popular songs such as "September" and "Do ya thinks I'm Sexy?"

"I don't know if we played any better, but I liked having those pom-pons keep us company during the usually dull halftime games," said one sophomore trumpet player. "Pom-pons really helped pick up morale," said another band member.

Art enrollment decreases

by Alice Stone

Evanston's Art Department is very diverse, offering classes from jewelry to drawing and photography. If enrollment can be increased, the department hopes to reinstitute new classes such as printmaking.

To increase enrollment, the Art Department exhibited student work in Vogue store windows, and the classes hosted an art sale in spring. But some students enjoy the small classes and are not anxious to increase enrollment. According to Gerard Gausselinn, "Students can get individual help from teachers in smaller classes."

Most people take art because "It is fun and I like to draw," as one East School junior explained. However, Gerard takes art because, "It might get me a scholarship and it may be a fun way to earn a living."

Speech Arts provides opportunities

by Tony Fenner

The Speech Arts Department, aside from being an informal break from academic classes, is also "hard work," noted department chairperson Mr. William Ditton. Courses range from Introduction to Theatre to Acting. Yet, the curriculum provides specialized courses in both television and many serious acting opportunities. "Students learn to be both appreciative and discriminating of the performing arts by understanding what they're all about," Ditton explained.

The advantages of taking a course are numerous, said one freshman. "You learn how to speak with confidence before an audience, and learn about many aspects of drama."

Speech Arts also can prepare participants for extra-curricular acting at ETHS. "If you don't take classes at school, it's harder to get involved with the all school plays and things like YAMO," said one East sophomore.

HERO means success

by Jim Swenson

Children, food, clothing and interior design - these are some of the fields that HERO (Home Economics Related Occupations) oversees, according to Ruth Wheeler, Home Ec. department chairperson.

"There are currently nine students involved in HERO this year and one will be able to become a licensed cosmetologist after she graduates," explained Ms. Wheeler. Each of the students is enrolled in one of the Home Ec. classes like Foods as a Career or Clothing, which they attend daily with their other curriculum until 11:30, when they leave to go to work."

"Students this year are working at such places as Ratzer's, Montessori, and Headstart. Jenny Olsen, who works at Barbereaux said that "It's a really great program. The classes are interesting, the pay isn't bad, and the people at work are great."

Debbie Gunn, who has employed three students from HERO over the last several years, was also enthusiastic. "These students have been truly dedicated, they are excellent employees and simply wonderful people. I couldn't ask for more." Debbie commented. Summing up her feelings about the entire HERO experience, Debbie noted: "The HERO program has done a super joy!"

Industrial Arts to install a new solar energy unit

by Jim Swenson

Those students with classes in any of the classrooms overlooking Bacon Courtyard will have the privilege of seeing a new building put up next year," according to Mr. William Clanton, chairman of the Industrial Arts Department. Assuming that the final approvals come through from the county officials, students involved with Industrial Arts will build an open shelter with a solar heated storage shed attached.

"What we are really trying to do is give the kids some real hands on experience in our Building Construction course," explained Mr. Clanton.

After the actual structure is up, the students will use the shelter to build garages, sheds and playhouses for sale to the community.

The department already has $10,000 from the Board and Mr. Clanton hopes to obtain more money from the government for using solar energy.

"We hope that this will make Building Construction a real solid course, instead of the 'drop in, drop out' course that it has been in the past," noted Mr. Clanton. "We are also hoping that the solar panels can be used by their classes. On the whole, I think that solar energy will benefit the entire school in the future," he said.

CPR added to Health Department

by Cindy Olsher

Cardio Pulminary Resuscitation (CPR) will hopefully be taught to all students taking Health Education beginning next school year, according to Mr. John Willson, Health Ed teacher and chairperson.

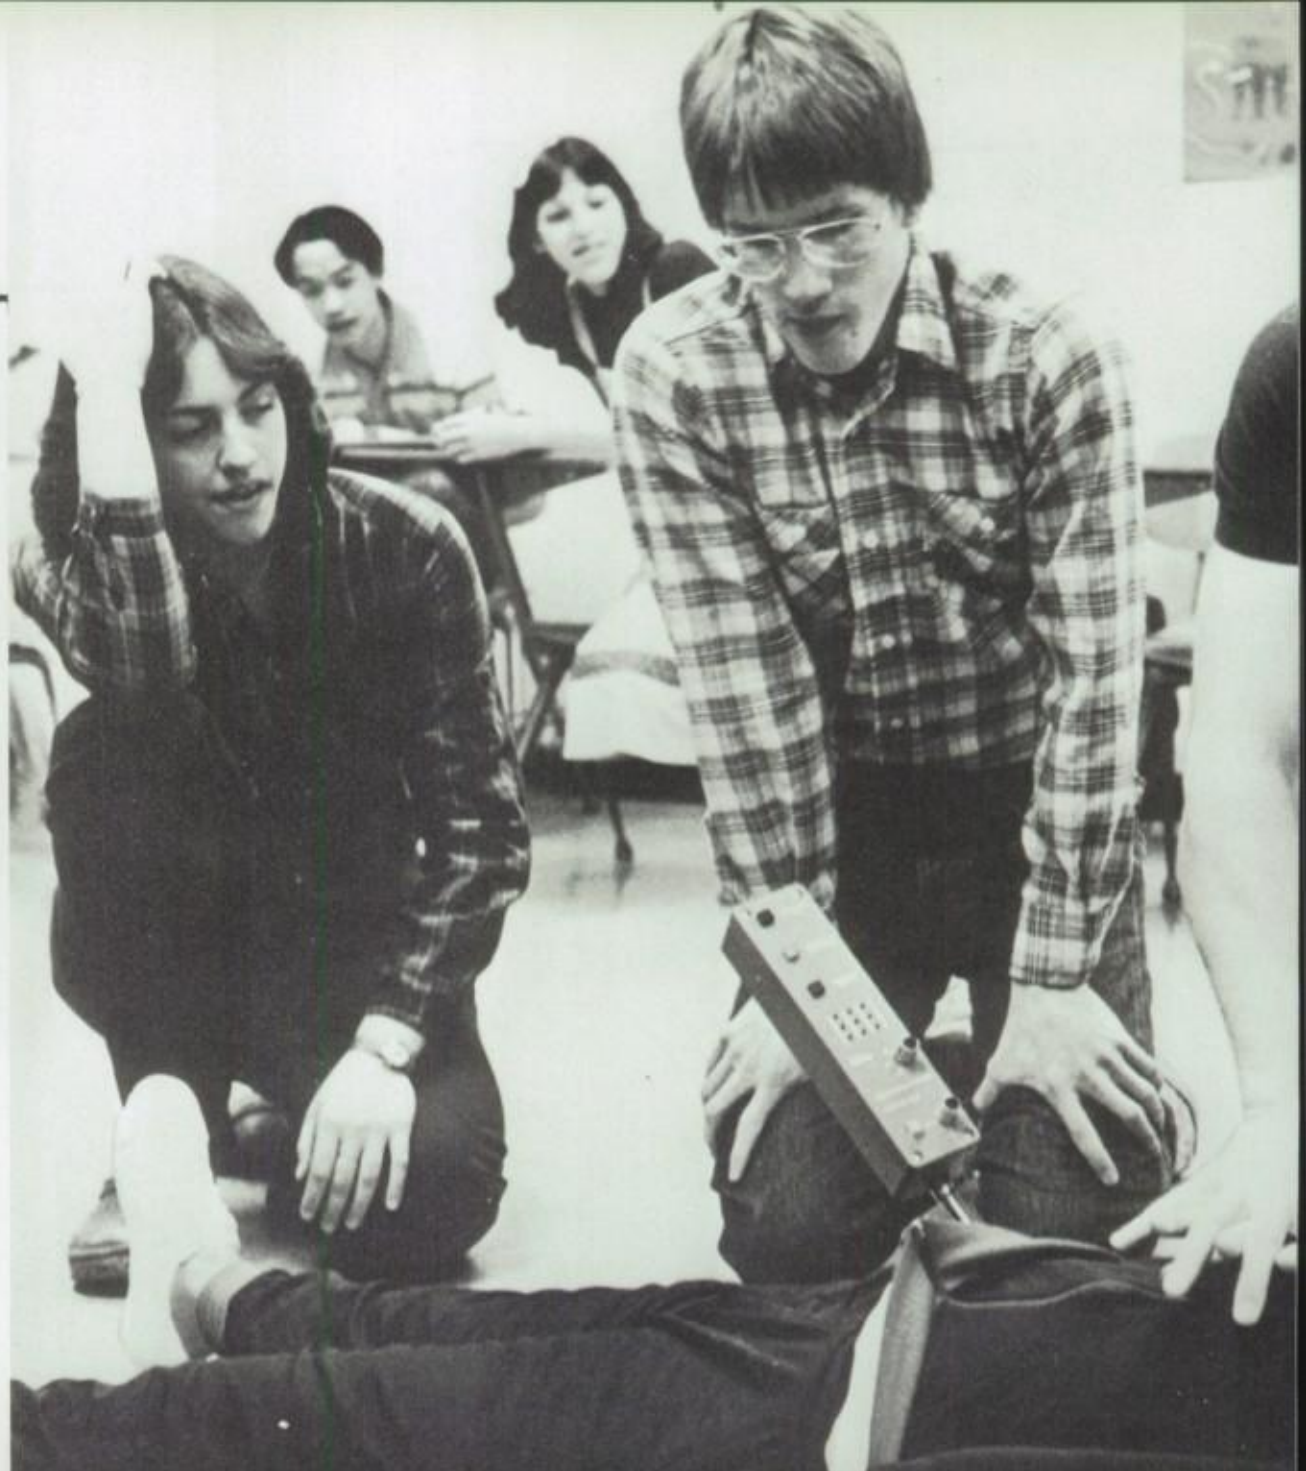
The department has purchased a dummy, Annie, to aid instruction and hopes to incorporate CPR into the Health Ed curriculum for the coming year.

To incorporate CPR into the Health Ed program would require adjustments. Health classes, traditionally meeting only four days a week, will pick up an extra day to accommodate the additional first aid CPR unit.

Mr. Willson feels the program could work, although the department needs to purchase five or six more dummies to adequately teach the method. Mr. Willson hopes the classes could be broken down for the CPR unit. "The ideal ratio is five students to one teacher." Guest speakers would also be brought in to teach the unit.

Mr. Willson stresses the dummies' importance to the CPR course. They are as close to real life as you could possibly get, and safer than practicing on humans. According to Willson, "You should not practice CPR on other people, as it can be extremely harmful; compressions could seriously damage a human's internal organs."

If plans are approved by the Curriculum Advisory Council, and CPR is incorporated into the health curriculum, don't make fun if you see a dummy sitting in front of your Health Ed class. It might just be Annie.



Mr. John Willson uses Annie to demonstrate CPR to Holly Smith and Andrew Lee.

Watch it Annie! No! No! NO! Ahhhhhhhh!

PE offers courses to satisfy all

by Jim Swenson

The PE departments have for several years prided themselves on offering courses that are out of the ordinary. This year ice skating, racquetball, cross country skiing, fencing, dance (disco as well as folk), roller skating and golf were among the choices. Ms. Stevens, PE chairperson, commented that, "We try to have something for everyone, as well as a balance of vigorous and lifetime sports such as skiing and golf." Some of the programs are offered during the day, but most are only offered to early bird students. Mimi Wiegand took early bird especially so that she could take racquetball, one of the most popular classes. "I really love to play, the exercise is great and I like being able to use the saunas at the Evanston Court Club." Added Misha Eovaldi, "It is a lot of fun, although it has affected my schedule. I used to be able to stay awake until twelve or so, but now I usually fall asleep by nine." Jim Solon commented that the cross country skiing, which is offered all day, is also a fun class. "The hills behind Bacon are great, even in long skis." What next? Dr. McGonagle says that next year sailing may be offered. Happy sailing!

Earn while you learn

by Julie Abarbanell

However improbable it may seem, some ETHS students are getting paid as they earn six graduation credits each year! If you are at least 16 years of age and have either junior or senior standing, you too can earn while you learn by signing up for a cooperative education (work-study) program, offered by the Vocational Education Department.

For the student with a specific career goal in mind, training is offered for jobs in the Home Economics, Business, Industrial Arts, and Science departments.

The Vocational Experience Program, offered in both day and night school, is flexible and offers more job possibilities to students with indefinite career plans. The curriculum includes two aptitude tests, the General Aptitude Test Battery and the Ohio Vocational Interest Survey, both which help analyze the student's vocational interests.

The classwork covers a variety of topics. One learns "everything from psychology to health to accounting," according to Vocational Experience student Darryl Strong. "The students get a wide variety of what is out there," said John Reynolds. "(The class) prepares you for life in general."

In the Vocational Experience Program, each of the 140 students are given four credits for a required minimum of 15 hours of work per week. The students in the program are not restricted to any occupational area, and have worked everywhere from Marshall Field & Company, Ron's Garage, Skokie Valley Hospital, and Burger King. Credit is considered an important incentive to work hard.

Senior Seminar takes new risks

by Julie Abarbanell

Senior Seminar is a "totally new kind of education," according to Seminarian Tom Beck. Now in its fifth year at ETHS, Senior Seminar offers learning experiences that are totally different from the academic type of education taught in the typical classroom. As Amy Golden explained, "Seminar is definitely a worthwhile learning experience apart from normal academia."

Trips to the Jackson County farm, a work experience unit, a Chicago experience unit, an expression unit, and the art division were just some of the many experiences that the 67 seminarians participated in.

The teachers, Syd Lieberman, Bob Negronida, and Phil Roden, are "dynamite," said Tom. The students talked to considered the personalization and special concern of each teacher to be "a major benefit of this program," explained one participant.

Senior Seminar's motto this year, "to take a risk," is part of the course's philosophy. One Seminarian explained that a person cannot fail if they try. Even trying one half of a thing is an accomplishment. "Seminar is not a break. I work a lot harder in seminar for myself," said Paula Nixon.

Although each student took Seminar for a variety of reasons, Miriam Cohen summed up the general feeling of most of the programs members: "I have learned more this year than I had in the past sixteen years of my life!"

West School graduation

by Susan Paullin

West School's graduation ceremony was held on Tuesday, June 10, at 4 pm; West's valedictorian and salutatorian were David Speiser and Ronald Parker, respectively.

Speeches by Norman Atkins and Sidney Bundrage were part of an extraordinary commencement program that included a magic act by Mark Johnson; singing by the Madrigal Singers: Liz Aiken, Sharon Dershin, David Gethman, Ellice Grossman, Cam Weise, and Alain Zimmer; a ballet dance by Angie Kritz; a gymnastic dance by Sharmayne Williams; and finally a solo song performed by Audreanna Taylor.

The senior performances were all entertaining and praised as the best commencement program in years by Ms. Tucker, Dr. Nash and other Board of Education members.

West school graduates concluded their ceremony by dimming the lights and tossing confetti made of torn graduation programs into the air as the audience applauded their commencement.

East School graduation

by Vicky Pieper

East School also had its graduation commencement on Tuesday, June 10, at 8:00 p.m. The ceremony opened with the East graduates walking in to a prelude played on the organ by East senior James Frey. He also played for West's graduation.

After the graduates were seated, Mary Drumm gave the invocation. Other speakers were Cameryl Hill, Steve Sally, Katie Eisenmenger and Paul Mikesell, who was East's valedictorian.

Along with the speeches, there were also musical numbers. Megan Wilde performed a dance, and songs were sung by Sharon Dershin, Sandra Flewellen, Diedrenne Giles, and Catherine Hinners. Walter Leaphart, who decided to break the trend, read a poem.

Following both graduations, a reception was held in Beardsley Gym for the graduates, their families, and their friends.

Seniors ritz it at prom

by Vicky Pieper

The 1980 Senior Prom was held at O'Hare's seemingly elegant Hyatt-Regency. Unfortunately, the elegance stopped where prom began. The dance was located in the basement in what seemed to be a conference room. It was so hot that many couples took to wandering around the upper floors and the parking lot, rather than staying to hear the band, The Third Rail, and to eat the hors d'oeuvres.

Though the bids were only ten dollars, most seniors felt that they would have been willing to spend more for a nicer decor: "I've spent so much money already on this one night, what would a few more dollars be?" asked Brian Scullion.

At 1:00 a.m., when the dance ended, people were off to go various places. Some were going to Great America, while others were headed for cottages in Michigan and Indiana. A few couples even made a whole weekend out of it.

Most felt that prom itself was an anti-climax. But as Lisa Kramer put it: "It was prom and most people had a good time because they made up their minds to."

Activities

Salzburg comes to Evanston

by Ruth Lillian

Rodger's and Hammerstein's "The Sound of Music" was ETHS's successful summer musical, presented on July 20 and 21, 1979. The show, double-casted to give more students an opportunity to be involved, included incoming freshmen through 1979 graduates, as well as small children from District 65, according to Mr. William Ditton, stage director. Dr. Richard Rosewall and Mr. Milner Siefert were musical directors.

"We chose the show because it is a family-type show which people know and love," said Mr. Ditton. Although the cast had very little time for rehearsals, the show "was a tribute to all the kids because their concentration and effort were so great and they were so good," Mr. Ditton added.

The show was "the first summer musical in a long time," said Mr. Ditton. "We usually do a play because musicals are more expensive to produce." Despite the costs and the short time available, "I think it was fantastic over all," said East sophomore David Thompson, who played Rolf in the first performance. "It made a great impression."

Homecoming has added participation

by Vicky Pieper

The festivities for Homecoming '79 began with a pep rally in Beardsley Gym. The attendance of this year's pep rally was high and many were forced to sit on the floor. The highlight of the rally was the announcement of the Homecoming Kings and Queens: Lona Foss, Gwen Schroeder, Lena Hicks, Patsy Powell, Tom Maday, Ron Whitmore, Frank Yancey, and Rick Kenner.

Saturday's activities were kicked off with the parade of floats. This year's float winner was the freshman float which was a pirate ship with the slogan: "Sink the Raiders."

Unfortunately the Kits were unable to sink the Waukegan West Raiders, but according to one East senior, "The Kits played one of their best games."

The annual Homecoming Dance was not as crowded as the previous year's, even though the popular Mother Fox was the featured band. Overall, Ms. Robin Tucker, West activities director, felt that this year's Homecoming was in general a success due to the fact that so many kids got involved with the preparation of activities connected with the Homecoming weekend.

YAMO flies high

by Julie Abarbanell

Familiar themes with a new twist made the title "Stop Me if You've Heard This" appropriate for YAMO '79. Under the direction of Mr. Bruce Siewerth, fables with princesses and frogs, a nondiscriminatory beauty pageant, and the story of the "Incredible Hunk" were portrayed as a folly by the talented YAMO cast. Accompanying this was the YAMO Orchestra, directed by Kathy Underdonk, Mary Beam, and Ellice Grossman.

The YAMO Business Staff helped YAMO celebrate its 22nd anniversary with a record breaking 36 page souvenir showbook — the largest in YAMO history.

A teachers' strike, which would have prevented rehearsal during the most crucial period — the week before the show — threatened the cast and crew members. However, the strike was averted and the endless hours of practice and preparation proved to have paid off. YAMO '79 was, "Brilliant, scintillating — there's nothing left to say; it was good, it was damn good."

Choral groups take off in 79-80

by Terri Firmiss

Performances of the choral groups at ETHS, including male/female chorus, chorale, senior choir, mastersingers, choristers, and other small ensembles got an early start this year, singing two months after school began.

The Fall Chorale Concert on November 9 featured all musical performing groups. The program ranged from classical works to modern selections. The Holiday Musical Festival on December 14-15 was a festival oriented show, concluding with a mass sing-a-long for the audience.

January performances highlighted the senior Madrigal Dinner, offering Renaissance music and food for over 100 guests. The bi-annual dinner included madrigal costumes, decorations, special food, and accompaniment of guitars and the Recorder Ensemble.

Spring of 1980 activities were numerous. The chorale traveled to St. Matthew's Church, performing the Mass in G by Shubert. The final choral evening in May featured the work of 2 experts from Northwestern University. Dr. Lyndon DeYoung's Chorus and Mr. Ray's Gospel Mass were sung by the senior choir. The festival also featured senior soloists Catherine Hinners and David Gethman.

The senior awards presented for choir achievement were given to Tim Eddis, which completed the 1979-80 year for all singers on a happy note.

Instrumentalists strike up tunes

by Terri Firmiss

Although some adjustments were made in the Music Department staff, the performers never altered their continuous concert ability.

Instrumental groups at ETHS include: Cadet Band, Concert Band, Symphonic Band, Cadet Orchestra, Jazz Band I & II, Chamber Strings, Brass Quintet, Recorder Ensemble, Percussion Ensemble, Woodwind Choir, and numerous small trios. These 14 groups total over 300 students.

Outstanding seniors in the instrumentalist field were Mimi Wiegand in flute and James Frey for organ. The two seniors performed as soloists with the orchestra in two of the five concerts. Mimi Wiegand and Jon Adams also won awards for achievement in band, and Tami Miller for orchestra.

The opening concert on December 14-15 at the Holiday Music Festival included performances of all orchestras and bands. Songs range from the Nutcracker to Christmas tunes.

The second band concert on March 14 in the auditorium included Wiegand's solo and other pieces. Jazz Band I & II performed a special concert in the Upstairs Theatre on a Sunday performance.

Closing the instrumental year was the Spring Festival featuring James Frey, and two winners of the third annual Sadie M. Rafferty Composition Contest. One winner was Mr. Miller for Elegy for Orchestra; The Jazz Band I performed Mr. Holme's winning piece Hindsight-Foresight.

Iran situation portrayed in Evanston

by Don Thompson

On December 6, 7, and 8, the Speech Arts Department produced Woody Allen's comedy "Don't Drink the Water" in the Upstairs Theatre.

The play is the story of a family of American tourists, played by West junior Robert Strom and West senior Martha Schwartz with West senior Angie Kritz as their daughter, who are accused of spying and picture-taking and forced to take refuge in a besieged American embassy behind the Iron Curtain.

His likeable but accident-prone son Axel, played by East senior Peter Borzak, must plan their escape aided by a bizarre priest (East senior Chris Wilson).

Although director William Ditton had selected the play several months before, events in the play were startling similar to events taking place in Iran, beginning with the taking of hostages in the American embassy in early November. "I was very surprised by the timeliness of the show," said Martha Schwartz. "But we were all afraid that the audiences wouldn't find the show very funny because of the Iranian situation."

Madrigal dinner a success

by Don Thompson

On January 18, 19, and 20 the all-senior ETHS choir, directed by Dr. Richard Rosewall and Mr. Milner Seifert, hosted the Madrigal Dinner. Each night, 125 diners enjoyed vocal soloists and ensembles, a recorder ensemble, dances, and guitar and harpsichord music in the Old Faculty Dining Room. Choir members, dressed in medieval costumes created by Dr. Rosewall and the music department, served a medieval menu topped by flaming plum pudding.

"This is one time we don't have to work on publicity," said Dr. Rosewall. "We always sell all the tickets."

JB's message is deep

by Julie Pantoga

This year "J. B." was chosen by Bruce K. Siewerth for the all-school winter play. The show was performed the evenings of February 14, 15, and 16.

Mr. Siewerth commented that "J. B. is a very complex and imperfect play that raises many questions."

"The audience response was as I expected. Most didn't understand it. Yet, they were impressed by the acting," lamented Mr. Siewerth. "J. B. was a real challenge for the actors. They rose to that challenge and I am really proud of them."

The audience response was as Mr. Siewerth perceived it. After seeing the play, East school junior David Carhart said, "The play was deep. Perhaps too deep. I didn't understand all of it, but the acting was incredible. It was truly a professional production."

The actors saw the play as a learning experience. "The play was difficult in two aspects. First of all, we had to understand the play before we could begin to act," reflected Macello BonDurant. "Second of all, I played five different characters so I had to learn the intricasies of all of them."

Congratulations to the Speech Arts Department for making J.B. such an artistic success.

ESANDE "Barre's None"

by Branko Radulovacki

The ETHS dance company, Esande, presented its annual gala show on the evenings of March 20, 21, and 22. This year's show was entitled "Barre None" and was supervised by Artistic Director Ms. Beverly Williams.

Most of the dance numbers were choreographed by the dancers themselves; the choreographers "started working on dances as far back as November," commented senior dancer and choreographer Megan Wilde.

Accompanying the talented dancers was senior flute soloist Mimi Wiegand who entertained the audience with her renditions of Telemann's "Fantasy in A Minor" and Dubussy's "Syrinx" during intermission.

The astounding variety of musical scores featured in the show can be attributed to the fine taste and maturity endearing to all of the dancers. The music ranged from the harsh sounds of Pink Floyd and Jeff Beck to the soft and mellowing tones of Streisand and Gershwin.

What made Esande so great? "It felt perfect because we felt and danced like one. We danced together and not for ourselves," explained senior dancer Debbie Aguiar.

Rain falls on Spain for Fair Lady

by Wendy Sherwin

The 1980 all school musical performed bi-annually was MY FAIR LADY, presented from April 17th to the 20th.

MY FAIR LADY, by Lerner and Lowe, was a double cast show for all major leads, and contained a cast, crew and orchestra of over 175 ETHS students.

Set in England, the musical revealed a transformation of a common flower girl to a respectable high-society duchess, with the assistance of the famous linguistic professor, Henry Higgins.

"The quality of the double casting was marvelous; each different cast was equally as talented," said Mr. William Ditton, the show's director.

One problem with doing a major all-school show is expenses. "The show was definitely costly, because all the elaborate costumes necessary for the ballroom scene and Ascot races required renting," Mr. Ditton noted.

Yet, according to one cast member, "The elegant costumes and beautiful sets were just part of the fun and spectacle in being in such a large production," explained Darryl Clark, Cockney chorus member.

"MY FAIR LADY was a great experience, and more importantly fun!" said Erica Frohman, who played a servant to Henry Higgins.

Major leads for MY FAIR LADY included: Beth Dorsett and Pam Harden as Eliza Doolittle, Tim Eddis and Chris Wilson as Henry Higgins, and Don and David Thompson as Colonel Pickering, Higgin's friend.

Make mine musical Aquettes

by Carrie Trautwein

"Make Mine Music," this year's Aquette Show, presented a unique look at music throughout the ages.

The 16 show numbers were each choreographed to music from a different period, providing a consistent theme. "There was something for everyone," said Ms. Marian Kelley, Aquette Sponsor. "Musical selections ranged from Beethoven's FIFTH SYMPHONY, and Sousa's Marches to 'Rock Lobster' by the B-52's, a punk rock group," Ms. Kelley explained.

Martha Belcher, club president, performed a solo to "Give it all you got" by Chuck Mangione. Most of the numbers were also student choreographed, with the help of Ms. Kelley and Ms. Joanne Kaad, assistant sponsor.

"This show was a lot better than last year's," said second year Aquette Anne Flaherty. "Their numbers were more together and we worked harder."

Aquettes' season was changed from fall to spring, allowing more time for preparation. "The extra time we had to put the show together really helped," said Carrie Whittaker, East sophomore and second year Aquette.

Carrie summed up why Aquettes was a enjoyable show: "Aquettes is simply a lot of fun!"

Showcase preps up

by Susan Paullin

"This is the best cast I've seen in the three years I've been involved," said senior Adam Van Doren, producer of this year's Writers' Showcase presentation sponsored annually by the English Department.

The 1980 edition, entitled "A Method to Our Mayhem," celebrated the production's fifteenth year with exceptionally well done performances by each of the eight student cast members.

"We made an extra effort to get as many different levels of students both to be in the cast and to be writers," said Adam. Of approximately 600 pieces of writing submitted by students, twenty-two pieces were finally selected to be interpreted for use in the show.

Directed by senior Joanne Gilbert, this year's Showcase was entertaining and enjoyable; the various pieces included serious poetry as well as humorous sketches. Several popular scenes made fun of the latest fashion trends, such as Topsider shoes and alligator ("it's actually a crocodile," insisted one sketch) trademarks found on everything from shirts to belts. In fact, according to the program handed out at each performance, the 1980 Writers' Showcase was dedicated "to reformed preppies everywhere."

Take Two confronts Death and Dying.

by Tony Fenner

When life is no longer fun, some people resort to death. Death and dying played a major part in the Combined Studies Department annual show "Take Two."

The show was written, directed, produced, and performed by CS students. Mr. Owen Hein served as assistant to the student production.

Highlights of the 1980 show which ran for two days and one night included pieces like "The Great House Robbery" and "Cosmic Discussion."

The school was interspersed with music, dance, black-outs and contained some serious material.

"Putting on the 4th annual Take Two was a lot of fun to do. It's really neat to meet some weird people," said Mary-Jeanne Crabbe, one of the show's three student directors.

The Thursday night performance combined with a pot luck dinner for the students and parents involved with CS.

Doug Vickers, a cast member, explained his feelings about being in Take Two; "Ever since I saw it last year, I couldn't wait to do the show this year."

The best advantage, according to another cast member is "simply meeting people, and having a lot of fun."

You can't take it with you

by Alice Stone

This spring, ETHS students enjoyed the Upstairs Theatre production of "You Can't Take It With You," a comedy by George S. Kaufman and Moss Hart.

The play is about the bizzare but happy Vanderhof family and the problems one member has when she plans to get married to the son of a wealthy businessman.

The set for the play was very elaborate, as Tim Reinhard, who portrayed Martin Vanderhof commented; "The enormous amount of props gave actors something to do on stage, and it also gave the audience the sense of a real home."

Mr. Bruce Siewerth, director, helped a great deal in coaching the actors. Each Vanderhof character was a unique individual, and Tom said, "Mr. Siewerth did an excellent job with the characterization of parts." Karen Engler, who has had roles in several school plays, added that "It was one of the best casts I've worked with — very highpowered, talented, and funny. The supporting cast was also unusually strong."

Thunder entrances audience

by Branko Radulovacki

This year's annual performance of Thunder was presented on the evenings of May 9 and 10.

Student directed by junior Byron Stewart and advised by Ms. Philinda Coleman, this year's show was Micki Grant's and Vinette Carroll's play "Don't Bother Me I Can't Cope."

"The play illustrated the social, political, and economic changes that the Afro-Americans must face daily in the United States," pointed out Ms. Coleman.

The long hours of rehearsal, which started back in March, seemed to have paid off according to Ms. Coleman who described the show as "tremendous, period."

The cast included the following: Dede Gregory, Angela Henry, Nicki Henry, Stephanie Randolph, Byron Stewart, Leon Towns, and Marcie Wilson.

Evolution of Rock comes to ETHS

by Terri Firmiss

The Now and Then Music Company consists of about 40 members who are striving to become better musicians, and learn about the history of rock and roll music.

"The main point of the Now and Then Music Company is to show the public that rock and roll is a legitimate form of music," said West junior Glenn Stern, bass player for one of the company's six bands.

In order to accomplish this goal, the band members held a large scale rock concert in March. "We started planning in October for a sophisticated concert which would trace the roots of rock and roll," said Ms. Lucy Murphy, advisor to the company.

The concert itself contained music "right off the Mayflower up to the Ramones," Ms. Murphy explained. Before each song was performed, a member of the company explained the music of the song and its evolution.

"This concert was the first of its kind," said Ms. Murphy. "We've had other concerts before, but none this formal and well-structured."

Another change involved the research of musical evolution presented in the show. "The concert was much more education," said Ms. Murphy.

The performance itself was a success. "The audience was quite enthusiastic," commented Murphy. "I think everyone was impressed."

Looking back over the year, Ms. Murphy seemed happy with the company membership increases, and interest in music. "One of my main goals was for the kids to be more open-minded towards music."

The research and discipline of the company seemed to have inspired many of the members to want to learn about music. "I hope that one there's a music class about the history of rock and roll modern music," said Glen. If such interest increases, maybe someday there will be.

Two roads diverged in a yellow wood,
And sorry I could not travel both
And be one traveler, long I stood
And looked down one as far as I could
To where it bent in the undergrowth;

Then took the other, just as fair,
And having perhaps the better claim,
Because it was grassy and wanted wear;
Though as for that the passing there
Had worn them really about the same,

And both that morning equally lay
In leaves no step had trodden black.
Oh, I kept the first for another day!
Yet knowing how way leads on to way,
I doubted if I should ever come back.

I shall be telling this with a sigh
Somewhere ages and ages hence:
Two roads diverged in a wood, and I—
I took the one less travelled by,
And that has made all the difference.

-Robert Frost

BODYBODYBODYBODYBODYE

The time you won your town race
We chaired you through the marketplace;
Man and boy stood cheering by,
And home we brought you shoulder-high.

To-day, the road all runners come,
Shoulder-high we bring you home,
And set you at your threshold down,
Townsman of a stiller town.

Smart lad, to slip betimes away
From fields where glory does not stay
And early though the laurel grows
It withers quicker than the rose.

Eyes the shady night has shut
Cannot see the record cut,
And silence sounds no worse than cheers
After earth has stopped the ears:

Now you will not swell the rout
Of lads that wore their honours out,
Runners whom renown outran
And the name died before the man.

So set, before its echoes fade,
The fleet foot on the sill of shade,
And hold to the low lintel up
The still-defended challenge-cup.

And round that early-laurelled head
Will flock to gaze the strengthless dead,
And find unwithered on its curls
The garland briefer than a girl's.

The '79 football season was disappointing, with the Kits' compiling a 1-8 record in the Central Suburban League.

"We lost a lot of close games," said All-Area defensive end Ed Martin. "I feel we could have put in a lot more effort."

The season ended on a sour note, with the resignation of Coach Mahoney. When asked about the "win at all costs" attitude at ETHS, Coach Mahoney said, "I did try to give the kids some idea of what life and teamwork were like. What is really sad about this whole thing is that the kids are the ones who lose in the long run."

"The kids have always had the potential," said assistant coach Greg Handel regarding next year's team. "The talent is there."

Incoming head coach Dave Powers will have a lot to look forward to and expect from a senior class who had won the Central Suburban League Conference title as sophomores.

Soccer kicks forward

by Cindy Olsher

Despite the late hiring of varsity soccer coach Tom Chmela, the '79 soccer team played an impressive season.

After finishing 8-5-4 this year, they placed second in conference only because of one more tied game than New Trier East.

Chmela felt the team played well, especially considering their late start, and said, "Although we could have used a few more weeks to practice, we learned as we went on and improved with every game. The guys were adjusting to the new formations I brought in and learning to play as teammates." Chmela stressed that the team worked well together.

The JV team, next year's hope for a championship, held a 9-3-2 record. But as Steve Galler, JV player said, "Next year we're going down state."

Girls speed to state

by Emily Rosenberg

Second place in the state finals was the culmination of a terrific season for the girls' cross country team. Varsity runners Kathy McCray and Amy Simon were the top two Evanston runners at state. They led their teammates Claire Carver, Andrea Hollingshead, Sheri Strain, and Carol Beam. The girls won both conference and districts, with Kathy McCray placing second at conference and Claire Carver taking first at districts. One reason for the successful season was the support and enthusiasm of rookie coach Rick Peterson. Although the girls had their own state meet, they went to dual meets with the boys' cross country team. According to team members, each team cheered the other one on. The boys team had a good season and they took fourteenth place at their district meet.

Golfers swing steadily

by Jim Swenson

The golf teams at ETHS were both very active this year. Senior Scott Terry said that the boys' team "placed second in League and we almost made it to Sectionals." Ms. Baumann, the girls' coach, said that the girls' team "won five matches out of nine, but we did have a lot of unfortunate injuries and we lost some matches that we shouldn't have." Ms. Baumann said that another problem was the lack of a golf course in Evanston. "So we practice on the range by the canal. Finally, the P.E. Department does not offer golf to underclassmen, and I do not have enough time to teach beginners the game from scratch." Scott said that he and most of the other boys on the team belong to private clubs with their own courses. Sara Freegard, one of the nine girls on the girls' team, said that they practice for about two hours every night playing nine holes.

Team effort abounds

by Terri Firmiss

Although the girls' tennis team didn't have a winning season, Coach Shirley Nannini was very impressed with some changes in the players this year. "I think the most important aspect of the season was the increased dedication of the players and the comradery of the team," said Ms. Nannini. Two members of the team had a particularly good season. Varsity sophomore Chris Staley was named to the all conference team and won #2 singles at the conference meet. JV Joy Ungaretti, also a sophomore, "is the only player since I've been teaching at ETHS, who as an individual was undefeated," said Coach Nannini. Although the team effort was good, the varsity team finished with a record of 3 and 7. "There's always a degree of frustration when you don't have a winning season," said JV Ellen Chasen.

Girls' swim team splashes to state

by Alice Stone

The 1979 season was the best season the girls' swim team ever had, according to Ms. Joanne Kaad, head coach. The team took tenth in state, third in conference, and placed four finalists at the state meet: Martha Belcher, Amy Bennett, Kelly Kurz, and Lona Foss.

Ms. Kaad is optimistic about next season; only four members of the team are leaving. She felt that several illnesses stunted the team's potential this season.

While crucial members were ill, enthusiasm held the team together. "Although the record wasn't spectacular, we had a lot of spirit," said Martha Belcher, varsity swimmer. Amy Bennett, returning varsity swimmer, agreed: "Because there was so much support from the team, it was easier to do well."

Foss takes third state title

Lona Foss maintained her title as Illinois state diving champion as she captured first place at the state meet for the third consecutive year. No other diver in this history of Illinois competition has won three state meets. Lona had planned to go to the 1980 Summer Olympics in Moscow, but now she must set her goal for 1984.

Until 1984, Lona plans to dive in college and at national competitions. Lona claims she owes all her accomplishments to "Blick," who has been Lona's only coach for the past four years.

"The best coach around is Blick," she says. "He's as good as any college coach, if not better. It wouldn't have been the same with someone else."

Spikers take third

by Terri Firmiss

"Some teams are built around a single player," said Ms. Dee Ragalie, girls' varsity volleyball coach, "but we work together as a team."

The varsity team finished with a 14-9 record and went third in conference, the farthest Evanston volleyball has ever gone. "It's the best season I've ever had," said Ms. Ragalie. Starters Katie Rooney and Toni Alford also played well, according to the coach. "And it's subs like Tanya Kurksey, Janet Bixby and Joann Wolfe that make it promising for next year."

The JV team finished with a 10-8 record. "They played well for a young team," said Coach Cheri Ciampa.

Both Ms. Ragalie and Ms. Ciampa agree that summer volleyball camps could be a big factor in determining next years success.

After two consecutive fourth place finishes in the Metro League North Division, the varsity hockey team got its revenge this year as they captured first place with a 17-4 record, led by first year coach Ben Hilfman.

Unfortunately the team could not quite duplicate its regular season performance in either the Metro League playoffs or in the state tournament. In the Metro League the Kits topped rival New Trier East but could not get by Loyola or Glenbrook North and thus failed to advance past the round robin phase of the tournament. In the state tournament, the Kits were stunned, 8-3, by division dormant New Trier West, whom they had previously beaten three times during the regular season.

"Mr. Hilfman gave us enthusiasm and a winning attitude. He deserves a lot of credit," said junior Greg DeStefano in explanation for the team's turnaround.

"I'm a good coach," agreed Mr. Hilfman, "I know the game and I get the most from my players."

"Despite our bad finish, overall I thought we had a good season," commented senior Scott Terry, "We did better in the Metro League than we have in the past few years."

Basketball bungles

by Ted Wartell

The Kits highlighted this year's basketball campaign with a pair of four point victories over defending state-champion Maine South, and went on to gain third place finish in the CSL North, with a record of 6-6.

But, junior center Dennis Kwiecinski said, "The fans never really saw what the team could have been."

The loss of several seniors caused a problem of lack of leadership on the squad and forced Coach Herb Williams to start rebuilding for next year.

Next year's squad will be helped by the addition of players like Paul Kinlow and Kurt Raedle who lead the sophomore team to the division co-championship and a 12-6 overall record. The Kits are also returning their three top scorers: Dennis Kwiecinski, Stepfon Sudduth, and Wesley Wallace, to the lineup next year.

"Our tough schedule this year helped the juniors to gain valuable experience," said Coach Williams.

Coach Williams feels that the experience gained by his younger players this season will definitely pay off in the future.

Coach Williams was optimistic for next year's squad because "we had some tough ones this year, but I don't expect to be taking any lumps next year."

Girls bounce to fifth

by Wendy Sherwin

The girls' varsity basketball team, coached by Ms. Alice Simpson, finished their season with an overall record of 9-17, but has "made a lot of positive improvements," according to varsity starter Jill Hamm.

The team finished fifth in conference with a conference record of 3-10. "We had a really good season this year, even though our record doesn't show it," explained Jill. "Everyone got along really well together and worked as a team."

The award for the Most Valuable Player was given to Patsy Powell. The Most Improved Player Award was given to Fran Powers, and Most Inspirational Member was Jill Hamm.

The Junior Varsity Team held an overall record of 16 and 4, with their conference record of 15-2. The JV team tied for first place in conference with Maine South.

"The JV Team had a great season this year because everyone worked as a unit," commented Lupe Priet, a West JV sophomore.

Lynne McCracken, JV player, summed up the season for every member: "I think all of the teams worked hard, but we are definitely looking forward to next year."

A very sensible alternative

by Jim Swenson

"Evanston is one of the only public schools that has a program like this going," according to Mr. Lloyd Williams. The program is the Alternative Education Athletic program, which includes a track team, but whose main thrust is the basketball team. The program, which includes thirty or so members over the course of the year, was set up to provide an athletic program for students who would not otherise be able to play due to the "very limited number of positions available on the varsity and JV teams," according to Coach Williams. The team is having a good year due in part to the emphasis placed on regular attendance and practice. Ms. Frances Williams, who also teaches at ETHS, summed up the program the best, "Kids need to belong somewhere, to have a place to go where they feel needed. I think that the program is providing that kind of atmosphere, as well as one in which the kids can learn and grow." This year's basketball team placed third in state. "We made a lot of progress; wait until next year," said one player.

Grapplers prove worthy

by Ian Schwartz

Although the boys' varsity wrestling team started the season slowly, they came on strong at the end. The Kits took third place in the districts, sent two representatives to the state meet, and finished with a very respectable 11-7 record.

"Overall we had a super year," said Coach Elias George. "We had a lot of students out for the team, and they all did a real fine job."

The Kits were given a severe blow in the middle of the season when Pollard was injured and lost for the year. "Don was our captain and his loss really hurt our morale," said Coach George.

Patterson and Godwin, who finished with 32-3 and 32-5 records respectively, both were satisfied with their performances up until the state meet. Both wrestlers won their first matches, but were defeated in their second matches and in the wrestle backs.

"I'm really going to work hard this summer," said Patterson, who plans to enter numerous tournaments and travel to California for the National Junior Olympics. "I think that if I work hard enough I'll have a good chance at winning state next year."

Coach George, who will be counting on members from this year's 11-5 JV1 squad, 10-3-1 JV2 squad, and 10-4-1 freshmen squad, agrees. "The team looks like it's in pretty good shape for next year. I'm planning on another great season."

Girls' gymnastics places sixth

by Diane Goldring

The girls' varsity gymnastics team, coached by Ms. Vicki Munch, had a strong season, finishing sixth in the state meet.

The team, after finishing second in conference, first in districts, and fourth in sectionals, qualified for the state meet as a team.

"As a team, we had hoped to have done better than sixth, but looking at all the other teams with club gymnasts, sixth was where we belong," commented Munch. "We got to state which was our goal."

Seniors Jeanne Omohundro and Pam Andrews qualified individually on the vault, along with senior Karen Traxler on the floor exercise. Andrews and Traxler were eliminated in preliminary competition; however, Omohundro went on to place sixth in the state finals.

Omohundro received the Booster Club award for Excellence in Gymnastics, and the Most Valuable Player award. The award for the most improved gymnast went to Michelle Rogan, and scholastic excellence achievement named to Jennifer Smith.

Boy's gymnastic team suffers injury

by Ellen Chasen

"The Boys' Varsity team suffered from a large amount of injuries which was our overall obstacle," summed up head varsity coach John Brinkworth.

"When you look at the percentage of members out, and how well our record stands, the ETHS gymnastic team should be really proud of their performance," Brinkworth explained.

The varsity team suffered from injuries of top athletes, particularly Jim Macherey. "Jim was our top contender for state, and two weeks before districts he injured leg ligaments and couldn't perform," Coach Brinkworth said. "Jim's injury truly hurt the team."

Despite Macherey's, John Penny's and Willard Walker's injuries, the team held a 4-5 record. John Schmidt also qualified for sectionals at New Trier, finishing ninth in all around competition.

"Evanston has the toughest district in Illinois. We compete against state finalists like Maine East," noted one JV. "We have a lot of talent for next year, and I think the team had a good year despite the record," said varsity John Round.

"With Brian Pundt, John Penny, Will Walker and Bryan Randolph returning, it should be a promising year in 1980-81," coach Brinkworth concluded.

Swimmers make waves

by Steve Sally

With the approach of this year's season, some people felt the going would be tough for the boys' swimming team because of the loss of a strong senior class to graduation. The team, coached by Mr. Dobbie Burton, quelched those fears with an impressive 11-3 dual meet record. Said Coach Burton, "I thought the team did a good job. They had a lot of enthusiasm."

After a third place finish in what was probably the toughest district in the state, the swimmers went on to take sixth place in the state meet. The Kits were paced by senior Ken Graves, who took third in the diving; Paul Sally, who finished sixth in the 500 free and seventh in the 200 free, breaking both varsity records in the process; and sixth place freestyle relay, composed of Matt Aliapoulios, Paul Sally, Lance Grossman, and Steve Sally.

This year's JV and sophomore squads finished with remarkable 10-2 and 12-0 records, respectively. Coach Burton feels that next year's squad will do "as well if not better than this year's squad."

The team's performance was summed up well by varsity freestyler Rick Cook; "This year we reestablished ourselves as a state contender, which should help the performance of next year's team."

Badminton team finishes .500

by Alice Stone

The girls' badminton team finished the 1979-1980 season with a 7-7 record. This record was not displeasing to coach Shirley Nannini who felt their conference was exceptionally competitive. Joanne Wolfe, varsity player, added, "We didn't have a terrific record but we worked hard and played well against some really tough competitors."

Katie Rooney, graduating varsity player, was a major impetus to the team. Winning her conference and district meets in the No. 1 singles position, she was the only Evanston player to qualify for state.

According to coach Nannini, the year as a whole was a success. "The players were a fantastic group of people. It was my most enjoyable season." Mary Olson, varsity player, also felt a great amount of team spirit as "everyone worked together towards a common goal."

Tracksters triumph

by Jim Swenson

"All things considered, we had a very good year," said boys' track coach Willie May.

One of the biggest problems, according to Coach May, was that twenty team members graduated last year, but even so this year's team had its share of outstanding athletes—Tim Saxman, George Woolrich, James Foster, and David Phillips.

Commented one team member, "We were disappointed that we only got four points at the state meet, but we did well at other meets."

Added Coach May, "One of the season's highlights was winning the Maine East Relays where we beat Proviso East, this year's state track champ."

As far as next year goes, Coach May seemed confident. "Even though we are again losing some of our best runners to graduation, I think that we have a good group of boys lined up for next season," said an optimistic Coach May.

Sixth in state

by Jim Swenson

"It was a fabulous year. It really was. We placed sixth in state and second in the district," said Karen Huff, girls' track team coach. "I had a marvelous group of girls to work with this year."

Terri Bradley, Lena Hicks, Gail Stephens, and Andrea Hollingshead set a new school record in the 800 meter relay this year and were second statewide.

Looking ahead, Ms. Huff was confident. "We have seven seniors leaving this year, so next year may be a year to rebuild, but we have some really good kids coming up."

Lena Hicks, one of this year's many stars, agreed. "Two years from now should be a really good year, because there are some really good sophomores there now. If they train hard, they could have another really super year."

"I've had a great group of kids this year, and I'm looking forward to next year," said Ms. Huff. "Each year provides a new group of kids, with new challenges and more hard work, but I think that we are ready for it."

Kits enjoy good year

by Emily Rosenberg

After completing a fairly successful season, the baseball team is looking forward to improving its record for next year. The players have every reason to be confident, because this year more than half of the starters were juniors.

The team won second place in its conference with a record of 9 wins and 3 losses. Coach Ken McGonagle had expected that a record as good as that would have given them first place, but undefeated New Trier East topped Evanston.

"We were close to being a very good team," said varsity third baseman Chip Brady. "If we had been more consistent in our playing, we could have made it to state."

"We were a young team and somewhat inexperienced," said Coach McGonagle. "Only two of our starters were regulars from last year. But next year we will have a real strong team."

One of the major strengths of the team was the hitting, according to Brady. Also, pitcher Chris Thomas was a strong, consistent hurler. Thomas was one of five Evanston players selected for the all conference team. The others were Marvin Flewellen, Bob Irgang, Ricky Stein, and Wesley Woodson.

"We had a good season this year. Everyone got along very well and we had a lot of fun," reflected varsity player Jill Hamm.

Although the girls' softball teams had less than impressive records this year, everyone seems to agree that the season was a good one.

"Our team was especially young this year. When they get used to varsity ball they'll do really well." explained varsity coach Wideman. "Most of the games were close. Our goal was not to let anyone score more than ten runs off us and I believe it only happened twice."

Although the team didn't accomplish its goal one hundred percent, Coach Wideman was pleased with the team's results and is hopefully looking forward to next year's squad.

"Most of our games were lost in one inning," added starter Lynn McCracken. "We got along great. We were a real team."

Netters meet expectations

by Ruth Lillian

"We progressed quite well during the season. We were playing stronger tennis at the end of the season than at the beginning," said Mr. Donald Iverson, second- year head coach of the boys' varsity tennis team. "I am very pleased with their performance."

The Wildkits placed fifth in the conference meet and won their third consecutive first place in the state district competition. Sophomore Paul Lewis at No. 3 singles, and No. 2 doubles team of junior Dan Kritz and sophomore Joe Gordon got to the finals of the conference meet. At districts the Kits were paced by the doubles team of junior Jon Gerbie and senior Dave Venit who helped qualify the whole squad for state competition by winning the district doubles title.

The team of Gerbie and Venit also carried the team through the state tournament, capturing 4½ of the team's 6½ points. The team tied with Maine East for 20th at state.

"The team was very casual and, although I think we could have done better at state," said Kritz, "we made a good showing."

Next year looks very hopeful, with four of this year's seven starters returning. Leading the group will be reigning '79 and '80 district doubles champ Gerbie.

Water polo takes fifth

by Teri Firmiss

The boys' varsity waterpolo team ended the season on May 9 after having a very successful season. The team ended the season with a 14-4 record according to Coach Al Schiff.

The varsity team played eight division matches, winning all eight of them. Thus the waterpolo team placed among the top eight teams in the sixteen-team division. The Kits, having placed in the top eight, qualified to compete for the state title.

On May 9, the varsity team played against Oak Park at the Circle Campus of the University of Illinois, in the first game on the road to the state title. The team played well, but lost the chance at state by losing 13-11 to Oak Park.

Despite the loss, Coach Schiff was very pleased with the varsity team's performance for the season. Coach Schiff feels that much of the team's success is due to teamwork. "The whole team had an exceptional season," said Coach Schiff.

Looking ahead to next year, Coach Schiff is very optimistic about the potential of the upcoming water-polo team. "I think we'll be just as good next year as we were this year."

"We're With You, Mitch"

by Branko Radulovacki

This obscure title lends itself perfectly to the feeling of deep respect and gratitude shared by the rugby players for their coach, Mr. Bruce Mitchell.

Under the scrutinizing eyes of varsity coach Mitchell, the Kits won their second consecutive State Rugby Championship with a 4-0 victory over Gordon Tech in the championship game.

Both co-captains, Tom Maloney and Thomas Wright, attributed the team's success to their hardworking coach.

"Mr. Mitchell produced an atmosphere within our team that made us proud to play for our school," said Maloney.

A tragic injury to one Loyola player has put the Rugby Club's future in limbo. Although there has been a lot of concern over the players' safety, Coach Mitchell is confident that the club will return next year.

"The administration has been behind us all the way and so have the parents," commented Coach Mitchell. "We had a super season and I hope that we'll be back next year."

by Branko Radulovacki

This year's Girls' Soccer team compiled a record of 3-2, but according to Coach Bob Wilheim the team's record wasn't his major concern.

"A good record wasn't first in my mind; participation was," said Coach Wilheim. "This year we had sixty girls playing on the team with as many as forty of them playing in one game."

Led by team captain Vivienne Jones, the team fared well against competition from Highland Park, Lake Forest, and New Trier West High Schools.

Most of the girls on the team keep up their soccer in the offseason by playing coed indoor soccer under Boys' varsity Coach Tom Chmela.

"Some girls play indoor soccer and others join the United Soccer Association," commented Coach Wilheim. "But right now participation is the start we needed most."

Mr. Robert Roth — Advisor

ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

A new decade symbolizes change. It was therefore appropriate to give this first yearbook of the eighties a new look. The 1980 KEY is radically different in style from KEYS of the past. Change, however, did not come easily; there were many quirks and problems that had to be resolved. Without the dedication of the following people, change would have been impossible and the 1980 KEY would have remained a book of the seventies:

Mr. Roth, for contributing more time and effort than would be expected of an advisor, as well as granting us the freedom to make the changes we desired.

Karrie and Laurie Wiss, for designing and formulating the new underclassmen section so beautifully.

Susan Sheffey, for all her help at deadlines.

Jamie Goldberg, for his high quality photography in pinch situations.

Mr. Ernest Pujals, for supplying us with the computer services necessary for the underclassmen section and index.

Karrie Wiss, for her accurate indexing.

Branko, for just being Branko.

Mr. Bob Moorhead, our sales representative for Walsworth Publishing Company, for informing us of the latest yearbook techniques available and for his assistance in implementing them.

Ms. Diane Burnham, our account executive at Walsworth, for solving the many problems that were inevitable with numerous changes.

And finally, everyone at Walsworth Publishing Company, for their quality and dedication.

The Chief
